'84-'85 Year Filled With Memories

As the school year began, we looked back on the past summer and all of the memorable occasions associated with it; we also anticipated a school year with even more great memories. These expectations were easily met.

Whether it was participating in the traditional Homecoming events or cheering on the Feds at an athletic event, the grounds of Fort Hunt were constantly filled with good times.

As the drummers begin their famous "drumbeat," Linda Fernandez and Denise Murray begin their infamous "drum-beat dance."

Surprised by a Fortress photographer, Christine Timmons cheerfully smiles.

Having a busy day, Beth Lancaster quickly attempts to finish her homework.

Showing their spirit, Angela Beal and Donna Bailey dress up for Music Day.

After sustaining an injury, Ernie Lyles returns to the bench.

Relaxing before a pep rally, the JV cheerleaders say "hi" to David Condon.

Preparing for their halftime show, the Drill Team waits for the music.

High School Is a Process Of Learning

Lifestyles of Fort Hunt students allow for a student to act as an individual or as part of a group, depending upon the situation.

Individually students must prepare for the future and high school helps us do this. We take on more responsibilities and discover our strengths and weaknesses.

We also learn how to deal with groups of people. This is done through active participation in club and school activities.

With the spotlight on him, David Burgett leads the band in the halftime festivities.

Concentrating, Larry Duggan prepares to display his brute strength.

Using their lunch break to scout prospective colleges, these juniors seem to have found something interesting about one.

Noticing a photographer in the room, Jeff Oehrlein diverts his attention away from the teacher.

Before the parade, Paul Howard and Jay Dell bring part of the Senior float to the assembling area.

With bright smiles, these drill team members perform their routine in front of the Friday football audience.

Students Try To Maintain Traditions

Tradition has always played a major role in high school life. At Fort Hunt we have a tradition of high academic standards as well as high athletic achievement. Each student did his or her part in keeping those traditions alive throughout this year.

This support was never more evident than when we had to fight to keep our school open. The proposal to close Ft. Hunt would affect us all. The school was united in its effort to remain open and maintain our excellent traditions.

With a sly look on his face, Ray Canuel thinks devious thoughts.

Not appreciating Chris Cox's humor, Mrs. Anderson contemplates using the hall pass as a weapon.

Ready for the beach, John Holland does not realize that summer is over.

Unable to concentrate on classwork, Randy McCray stirs up his own fun.

Before the Powder Puff game, the Seniors decide on last minute strategy.

The Fort Hunt cheerleaders rally the Sophomores to a spiritual high.

Are three pencils enough Todd Misura?

Hoping not to have to use her medical expertise, trainer Karen Nidever sits on the sidelines.

Reflections: Recalling the Way We Were

School spirit and pride play a major role in high school life. This spirit is spread throughout the school and affects each one of us.

We cheered on our own class at pep rallies and also supported the teams representing our school. This school pride was one of the traditions upheld this year and provided for many unforgettable experiences. These traditions will continue from year to year, as will the special memories as we remember the way we were.

During lunch, Vicki Moore savors her free time.

Although separated by class, collectively we the student body of 1200 make up Fort Hunt High School. From club activities to post-game dances we keep the school functioning.

The following pages show the many faces of Fort Hunt and the class spirit and unity associated with them. While cheering on our own class we also supported the school as a whole.

In the future, this section will be looked at the most, as we remember the faces of friends and the fond memories associated with them.

CLASSES

At the Freshman cheerleading try-outs, Leslie Murray patiently awaits her turn to perform.

Performing the silent cheer, Todd Misura psyches up the pep-rally crowd.

Looking very studious, John Holland actually is hoping for a good grade on his last test.

School Year Activities Show Many Diversities

The experience of each class is very diverse. Seniors reflect on their past years here and look forward to graduation and heading off to college to prepare for the future.

The Junior class tries to survive the toughest year of high school and prepare for their final year.

Sophomores are just happy not to be Freshmen any longer and feel more accepted at school events.

The newest arrivals at Fort Hunt — well, we all know what is said of Freshmen. “The best thing about Freshmen is that they become Sophomores.”

On her way to class, Stacey Sheperd contemplates the meaning of life.

Running through his computer program, Lance Davis searches for his error.

Class of '85 Supports the FH Coalition

With the proposal to turn the Fort into an intermediate school, the Seniors disproved all rumors that they didn't care. It was the seniors who began cheering "Save our School" at the pep rallies and games, participated widely at the polling places, and spoke in favor of our school at local public hearings. Although the Class of '85 would certainly graduate from Fort Hunt, the future of their school was a big concern.

Lounge Offers Relaxation

The one thing that all Seniors look forward to, the inner sanctum of Fort Hunt High, is the Senior Lounge. This is the place where Seniors can revert back to their childhood.

Consisting of a couch, two chairs and many good times, the lounge is always filled with the latest gossip and weekend happenings. It is the place that sets the Seniors apart from the rest of the school.

Celebrating their 18th birthday, Senior twins Lisa and Linda Fernandez are overwhelmed with presents from friends.

Career Center Offers Escape

College, college, college! That is all we eat, sleep, and breathe! All of a sudden, when you think you are gaining extra rights and responsibilities, everyone within contact of you offers advice.

Where to go? What to study? are questions we ask. Thanks to the college career center, we have an escape. There, we learn to understand the numbers and letters suffocating our mind — ACT's, SAT's, ACH's and class ranks.

With the guidance of Mrs. Brent, Stephanie Hammond receives help in choosing a college.

New Seniors Find the Fort A Nice Place

Fort Hunt has always had a substantial number of students coming and going, but as Seniors the experience is harder to take. Most new students were as attached to their old school as we are to Fort Hunt.

New Seniors like Cindy Jensen, Kari Fitzsimmons, Vale Farrar, and Ted Little all like the Fort, but they don't deny the hardships. They tend to agree with Vale in that "It's lucky that the Fort Hunt Federals are so friendly."

New Faces in Senior Court

The Class of '85 has always done things differently, and this year Homecoming was no exception. Only one member of the Senior Court, Barry Meuse, had been previously chosen to represent the class.

It was a close race, but the final outcome was: Barry Meuse, king; Jennifer Kiese, queen; while Doug Perry, Todd Misura, Terri Snell, and Jeanette Paulino made up the rest of the court.

"The Senior year made it even more exciting," said crowned queen Jennifer Kiese. Todd Misura summed it up the best — "I had a REAL good time!"

Our king Barry "Beautiful" Meuse, stands tall in the hopes of impressing any Freshman girl.

Seniors Lead The Way in Class Spirit

What is spirit? Madora Wilson said that the spirit of the senior class was, "spastic and rowdy." Spirit is defined and described differently by each student because spirit is as individual as each person. Class spirit grows with each year, so that by the time the Seniors rule the class has a unique spirit that no other can copy.

The Class of '85's spirit was expressed in many different ways. Parties, pep rallies, and games were times when Seniors expressed their spirit most loudly.

Reaching out to touch someone, Adrienne Howze is caught by surprise.

Dressing up as her favorite musician, Margaret Lisi proudly displays her senior spirit.

On green and gold day, Todd Misura attracts the attention of Michelle Poast and Kristina Kohler.

Senior Slump Strikes All

Usually after first semester a mysterious disease strikes the Seniors at Fort Hunt. The early symptoms included walking into school around 8:13 and an overall lazy attitude.

The disease advanced as students began losing their memory, like leaving books in lockers, and falling asleep in school. Homework became a thing of the past. The clothing became old sweats and tennis shoes.

Commonly known as the SENIOR SLUMP, it may have struck some as early as the first quarter.

Experimenting with new ways of studying, David Burgett tries the osmosis method.

New Officers Offer Ideas

The elected officials of the Senior Class consisted of David Hirschkop, David Condon, Doug Perry, Michelle Poast, and Mimi Murphy. Only one officer, Mimi Murphy, had previously been elected.

The new officers brought in fresh ideas, such as luaus and Hirschey-Grams to keep the students informed. They worked with the coalition to keep Fort Hunt open, and worked hard to insure a successful homecoming.

Seniors Win HC 1st Place

"We won, we won," exclaimed Seniors Todd Misura and Doug Perry on the night of the game. It was the "icing on the cake" for the Homecoming festivities. The giant wooden plane with sheets for siding and the banner off the back stating "Fort Hunt is flying high" was truly a masterpiece.

The theme for all the floats was "Surf's Up." We built the float at Jennifer Kiess' house this year. Seniors had a late start (but that is expected) and we came through under pressure once again!

Planning the Homecoming week, SG officer Nikki Westall voices her opinion.

Seniors Take Casual Break

By the time senior year rolled around, lunch had evolved into something more sophisticated and fitting of the Class of '85 — the midday break. Few seniors were seen standing in lines; either they were too good for it or their "senior privileges" allowed them to bypass the long lines.

The juniors crowded into the Junior-Senior Cafeteria as if to prove they belonged, but the seniors remained casual as if it were no big deal. Other seniors used the time to catch up on major or minor assignments or the latest gossip.

Showing his distaste for the school lunch, Jaret Fredrickson wipes his hands of the issue.

Although most Seniors are excited about their last year in high school, many admit that leaving friends and the security of home will be hard to do.

Kathy Hovde was full of different feelings: "It is exciting, scary, and it's hard to believe that this is IT! You can get away with a lot because you are a Senior and the administrators love you."

Whether going off to college or pursuing a career out of high school, we all have to grow up sometime. What are David Condon's feelings about leaving home? "I'll miss my mom."

Junior Enthusiasm Shows During Homecoming 1985

Taking a break from a heavy academic load, Ft. Hunt's Juniors celebrated Homecoming 84-85 with terrific spirit. The Class of '86 took part in every Homecoming activity including dress up days, bon-fire rally, car smash, and won third place in the float contest.

The Junior class princes, Tom

Kiernan and Randy McCray, and princesses, Janice Nedbal and Cathy Dietz, made their spectacular debut in the Homecoming parade and appeared in the excitement of the Ft. Hunt vs. Lee halftime festivities.

Class Officers Provide Responsible Leadership

This year's Junior Class Officers were elected to their duties with new ideas and much enthusiasm for the Class of '86.

The officers were Aileen Paulino, president; Katharine Perry, vice president; Catherine Dietz, secretary; and Beth Lan-easter, treasurer.

These people were faced with several major challenges of building a homecoming float and, of course, organizing dances, candy sales, and ear washes to raise money for our first prom.

These officers and the Class of '86 are looking forward to an outstanding seniors year at Fort Hunt.

The Class of '86 Spirit Shines Through Again

Some people might say that when you become a junior in high school you are not as spirited as in your underclassmen years. Well, the Class of '86 didn't think so.

From the start of the new school year they showed their overwhelming spirit and Powderpuff was no exception. We went out there and showed the Seniors what we were made of and that we were just as strong and spirited as they.

During Homecoming Week, we came out with third place in both the dress ups and the float competitions. All in all the Class of '86's spirit showed proudly and will keep growing as we reach our upcoming Senior year.

A Demanding Junior Year

This year proved to be the most academically crucial high school year for the Class of '86. PSAT's and SAT's played a large part in preparing the Juniors for college. The Class of '86 strove for high academic achievement throughout the year by obtaining good grades and high test scores.

Choosing a specific college and a possible major are now big decisions which confront Fort Hunt's juniors.

Upperclass Status Brings On New Responsibilities

"Being an upperclassman, we had many more priorities to straighten out, and a lot more pressures to handle," said Janice Nedbal. Megan Fogarty added that, "... we had more responsibilities and began thinking about the college of our choice."

Not only did the responsibilities change but our behavior did too. Juniors were much more laid back in their attitudes. They began thinking about college and started worrying more about grades. Still having the Seniors hovering over us, we didn't get all the freedom we wanted, but we did show our authority over the underclassman in any and every way we could.

Sophs Work For Licenses

"This is the year," the long awaited year when you receive your driver's licenses. This is one of the biggest events of the Sophomore year, and it gave a sense of freedom.

But this was not taken lightly. Sophomores are prepared by Drivers Education at school and Behind the Wheel. People are now saying you are old enough to take on some responsibility.

Class of '87 Moves on Up to a Higher Level of Life

Being a Sophomore has its advantages. The obvious one is not being pushed around anymore. We are no longer the "lowest form of life." Not so obvious is that we are more confident in ourselves and in knowing our way around the Fort.

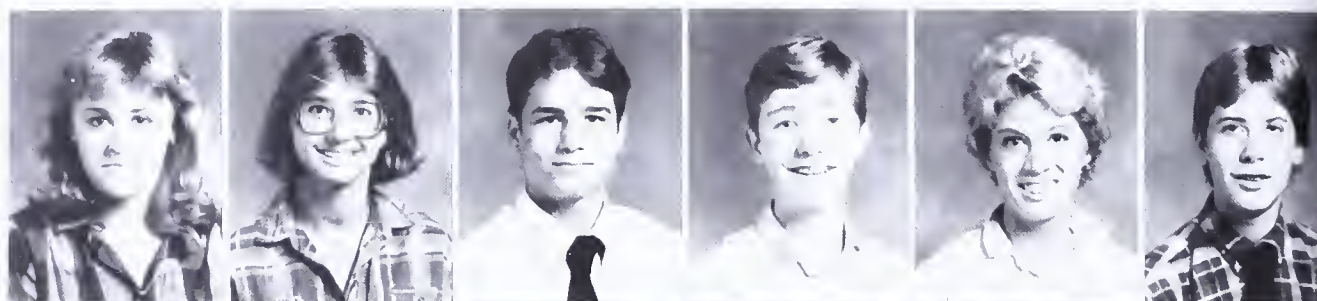

The most important part of being a Sophomore is "getting back" at the Freshman for just simply being "Freshman." Now we hold the shaving cream instead of running from it. We were mature enough to understand that our actions could jeopardize the Pep Rallies, so we waited to "welcome" the sweet little Freshmen in harmless ways.

After seeing a film in Driver's Ed., George Wheeler appears temporarily stunned.

Officers: Top of Class

Having successfully chosen worthy class officers, the Sophomores showed they were again capable of pulling through another year at the Fort. Officers President Robb Pittman, Vice President Tricia Jedreiewski, Secretary Tricia Fuentes, and Treasurer Beth Holiday, have actually found time from their social life to coordinate the Class of '87 for raising the money needed, having car washes, sponsoring a dance, and selling candy bars and M&M's.

The Sophs' officers did a great job in getting their classmates psyched up for their next two years at the Fort.

Homecoming Proves to Be Fun Time for Sophomores

For the Class of 1987, Homecoming proved to be a great success. As Sophomores they were able to become more involved during Fort Hunt's Spirit Week. Together they spent days gathering spare change for the annual spirit chain, or rummaging through the attic for the perfect outfit to wear on dress-up days such as rock star day and green and gold day. Evenings and weekends were devoted to working on The Black Fort, our almost perfect second place float.

This year's Homecoming princes and princesses were Mike Granuzzo, Robb Pittman, Stephanie Swift, and Roberta Swift. All were very excited to be representing their class. Many new experiences included the Homecoming Parade, the Pep Rallies and finally the game.

Second Year Allows for Increased Participation

This year as Sophomores we faced many new and exciting challenges. We enrolled in tougher classes such as chemistry, geometry or typing. Along with the hardships of a heavier homework load and seemingly impossible tasks, we managed to have fun.

Some students participated in the Drainsville Park field trip and still others were able to go to foreign countries to study.

These trips and events provided the opportunities of a lifetime for those who participated.

For college bound Sophomores the PSAT's showed us what was in store for us in the years to come. After seeing the scores and surprises, many of us were glad to be Sophomores.

Freshman Year Provides Chance to Get Involved

It finally came — Freshman year. A chance to get involved in things, to really have some fun. High school is a conglomeration of many different events, and the Freshmen were overwhelmed by them all. There were so many things to choose from that any Freshman could find something right for his individual needs.

However, all of these opportunities tend to be attached to a string of problems, mainly transportation. What did the Freshmen do when confronted with a football game, a school dance, or an important school function? Instantly big brother or sister became their best buddies. For those lacking older siblings, the choice arose to either forego those activities, tag along with the upperclassmen, or struggle through the embarrassing question, "Mom, can, uh, you take us to . . ."

While taking notes, Wendy Harrison looks for an explanation of what she just wrote.

Freshman Officers Begin Saving Funds for Future

It is a well known fact that leading any class takes much hard work. But to lead a class in a school which might not be around for your high school graduation takes a little more effort.

Those Freshmen Class officers giving little more this year at the Fort included President Rob Lancaster, Vice-President Bernie Dietz, Secretary Christy Hicks, and Treasurer Darrin Tinkle. This year, these officers were actively involved in planning numerous fund raisers such as candy sales, doughnut sales, and car washes.

According to Dietz, the main objective of their activity was "to start saving money for our Junior Prom."

First Day Proves to be Difficult for Freshmen

The 8:15 bell rang. Freshmen scurried around the halls, bumping into others as they read their schedules. They desperately tried to find their classes. Occasionally, one even summoned up the nerve to ask an upperclassman where he was. The Senior merely smiled slowly and said, "Just turn left and take the elevator." Before the day was over, the Freshmen were ready to give up.

Besides getting lost, Freshmen were faced with intimidating teachers, classes that seemed too difficult, and no recognition in a world of upperclassmen.

The 2:20 bell rang. Freshmen smiled with relief and thought to themselves, "Only 179 more days of this!"

Frosh Face Many Changes Upon Entering Fort Hunt

At first, Freshman year seemed like it was going to be a long, hard road. There were countless responsibilities, frustrations, and embarrassments. It seemed like the year would never end.

When the Freshmen first arrived at the Fort, they were confronted with new faces, and not all of them were friendly. They were avoided by the Sophomores who were grateful that they were no longer 'Frosh' and ignored by Juniors who were preoccupied with newly provided status. To the Seniors they were basically non-existent, innocent victims of periodical abuse. However, oc-asionally an upperclassman was reminded of the constant pressure that a Freshman faces and loaned an experienced hand.

Of course, being a Freshman is not all disadvantageous. This year's Freshman Class proved to be a spirited one, eager to get involved in class activities, and always ready to give support.

Once in a while Freshmen heard the advice, "Don't let anyone know you're a Freshman and you'll be o.k." But the Class of '88 is a proud class, and somehow they managed to survive and prosper through this year.

Homecoming: Main Event

As the Freshmen leave their first year of high school, they will leave both fond and unsavory memories of that year. They will reminisce about the first important event of their Freshman year — Homecoming.

Freshmen made a large contribution to their class by helping with the float, and during spirit week the Freshmen were tough competition for the other classes.

All Feds agreed that the best way to meet people and make new friends was to join a club. And here at Fort Hunt we had the opportunities to join a great number of them. Each offered a common interest and an accomplished goal. Those who participated enjoyed fun events such as the annual Latin-German soccer game, the Jr. Civitan convention, and Key Club's annual Christmas tree sale.

There were also some clubs that worked for a particular cause. The Safety Club and SADD often spent their meetings discussing ways to make the school safer for all of us. Overall, clubs brought us together and helped boost the spirit of Fort Hunt in all who participated.

Federals Recognized for Their Musical Talents

1985 was Fort Hunt's year to shine in the Music Department. Along with a few appearance changes and new incoming talent, the band as well as the choral groups received high honors and recognition throughout the area.

The Band clad in new uniforms and led by Mr. George Etheridge played at the D.C. Republican Convention this past fall. The audience included many notable personalities including Vice President Bush.

The Choral Department here at the Fort put on several shows this year. Perhaps the most memorable program was that which was done at the Fort Hunt Rally in early February.

It was at the rally, some 800 people were able to hear and see the 35 members who participated in the All Regional Choir, more than any other school in the area. The Orchestra and the Madrigals were also present, and turned in an excellent performance.

With great talents like these Fort Hunt will be able to shine in more than just 1985.

The band practices hard for their next big performance.

Taking time out for a picture, the cast of The Gilbert and Sullivan Revue smiles for an encore.

Proving that they really love music, the A.M. chorus class is up and ready to sing at 7 o'clock.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. George Etheridge, band members Monique Royer and Jill Jefferson concentrate on their music.

Preparing for an upcoming concert, violinist Katherine Perry and Elizabeth Gillis tune their instruments.

Striving for perfection, Tonya Sullivan hopes to play the right notes.

It took more than the problem of declining enrollment and the possibility of Fort Hunt closing to cause the Feds to let down their barriers against district foe. Showing their usual dedication to their sports, the Federals practiced long and hard to achieve their goals, Gunston District Championships.

Behind the outstanding sports teams are the coaches. Many of the coaches were new to our school, and they showed their ability to lead our teams, while the veteran coaches still proved effective. Competition was alive and well.

Coaches Lead the Way to Victories

Fort Hunt has traditionally been known for its outstanding athletic teams. Behind these teams is a group of excellent coaches.

The coaches spend countless hours with their teams and staff in order to devise plans for attacking other teams. The relationship between player and coach is a vital part of a team's strength. Our coaches at Fort Hunt have become a part of our lives, as well as good friends.

Being a new coach presents a special challenge — it is always hard to fill somebody else's shoes, especially those of a winning coach. Yet, the nine new coaches at Fort Hunt didn't seem to mind.

The Fortress Staff would like to welcome our new coaches to Fort Hunt. Keep up the tradition of winning and good sportsmanship. We also thank the existing coaches for their dedication and abilities devoted to Fort Hunt.

Discussing the running attack, Coach Creneti and Willie McCallum discuss new plays.

Feds Go 5 and 0 in District and Regain the Title

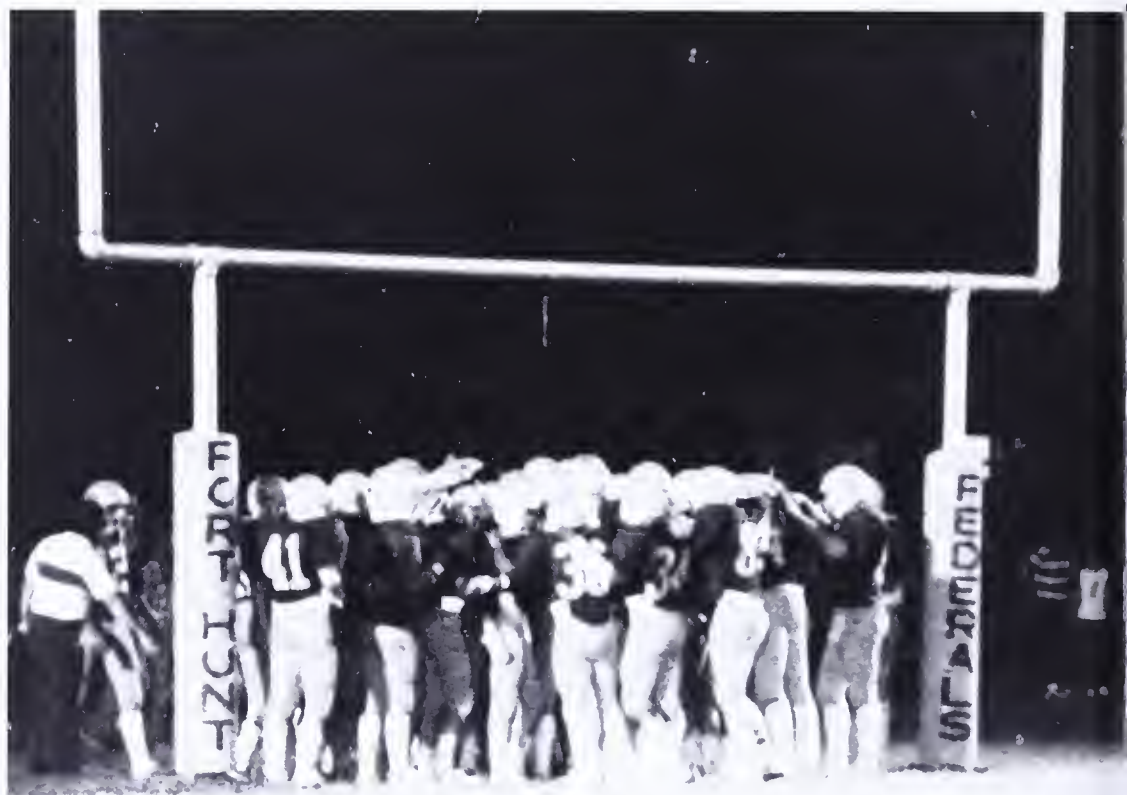

Starting off slowly, the Federals finished strong by going undefeated in Districts and winning the Gunston District Championship. Losing their first two District games by a total of five points, the Feds gained momentum and rolled over Falls Church displaying their first shutout of the season.

Showing loses to both Robinson and TC Williams, the Feds went on and defeated rival Mount Vernon. Willie McCallum scored on the opening kick off and then the defense held the opponents to a seven-six victory. Continuing their winning ways, the Feds defeated all other District opponents and moved to the Regional Semi-final.

With a tough played game against TC Williams the Feds still came up on the short end with a 20-0 loss.

On the outside sweep, Eric Lindsey makes his move to the outside.

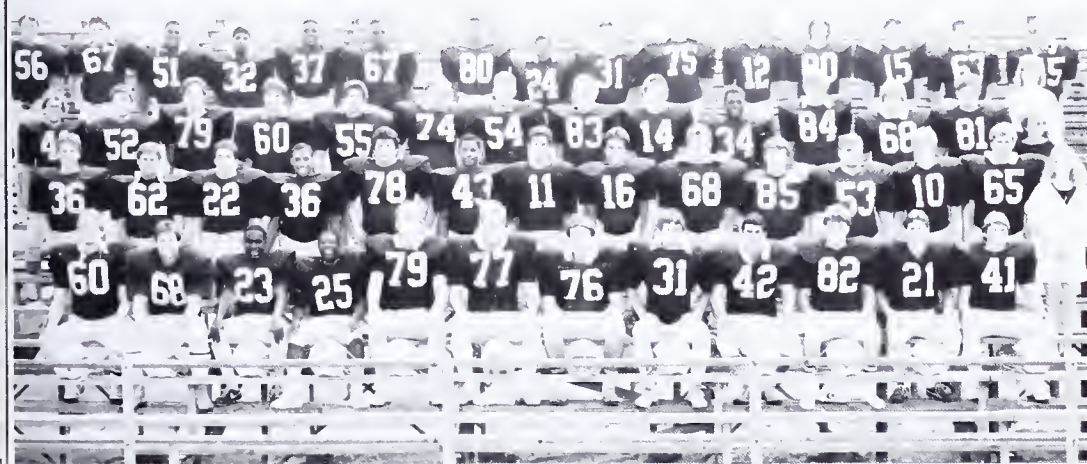

Before the game, the Federals gather in the end zone for last minute instructions.

Cutting to the outside, Willie McCallum leaves the defenders behind.

Experience and Quickness Are the Main Factors

With the experience of twenty returning lettermen, head coach Frank Creneti led his varsity team to another Gunston District Championship.

The Federals offense was led by a four-some of running backs, including Sophomore Ernie Lyles, and Seniors Eric Lindsey, Eddie Bonds, and Willie McCallum. McCallum received the honor as being selected the MVP of the Gunston District by the Alexandria Gazette.

The defensive line was led by Seniors Joe Davis and Sonny Smith, who were both elected to the second team of the All-Metro Team. The defensive secondary was headed by Ryan Smith who ended in second place for the most interceptions with three.

The 1984 Federals found the right combination of veterans and rookies for a winning style.

Punter Todd Flannery kicks the Feds out of trouble.

Diving to catch the ball, John Holland beats the defender.

Successfully stopping the run, the Feds defense holds.

JV and Freshmen Learn the System

An even balance of a stingy defense and a powerful offense led the Junior Varsity Football Squad to a record of five and three, clinching once again the Gunston District Championship. The team was led by the demanding coaching staff of Danny Denston and Chuck Gupton. One player, Mark Wilkins — 78, felt “The team was very well organized and the coaching staff was strict and demanding but we all knew it was for our best interest.”

The Freshman Football Squad has seen better years than this one. They finished the season with a one, five, and two record. One player, Mike Kennie — 16, states that “high school football is not what we expected it to be, compared to Youth League. We had a lot of good players, but they were not used according to their ability.”

After making the reception, Jimmy Carter heads upfield

Outrunning the defenders, David Green looks for the end zone.

Cheerleaders

Varsity Squad Exhibits Skill

Fort Hunt's Varsity Cheerleading squad led our fans through football, basketball and various other competitions.

Led by Tracey Gibbons and Kathy Rodriguez, the girls worked throughout the year to make Fort Hunt's squad number one. Over the summer, the girls attended a cheerleading camp at the University of Richmond. In their competitions at camp they won all blue ribbons.

By decorating the player's lockers and jock hall before big games, along with putting together other small events such as Mr. Touchdown, the Varsity Cheerleaders kept Fort Hunt students spirit high.

Entertaining at the pep rally, the Varsity Squad show their spirit.

Keeping the fans motivated, Tracey Gibbons executes her cheer.

Watching the Homecoming court, the Varsity Cheerleaders swoon over Fort Hunt's Homecoming King.

Taking a breather between cheers, Julie Ungerleider watches her favorite Federal.

Hoping for a Federal win, Karen Pye cheers Fort Hunt on to victory.

JV / Frosh Girls Learn Routines

This year the JV Squad had almost a completely new cheering team, helping the JV team to get fired up to win the districts. The JV Cheerleaders went out every day, day after day, hour after hour, so when they performed they could go out there and show their awesome routines perfectly.

On the other side of the building, the Freshmen were practicing their routines, even though their team didn't quite pull through. These girls cheered them on anyway. They showed all of the other cheerleaders just how much spirit they really had.

Taking a break from practice, Kathy Quinn squints to keep the sun out of her eyes.

Hard Practices Net Good Results

After completing a successful season, the Varsity Field Hockey Team lost to Groveton 0-1 for the Gunston District Championship. With returning Seniors Carolyn Coughlin, Lara Geller, Denise Murray, Karen Sickon, Nikki Westall and Sandra Wilkniss the team posted a season record of 7-3.

Losing only to Hayfield and Groveton, the team ended up in third place overall. When asked about the teams success Karen Sickon replied, "We were a close team and our success was a result of our hard practices."

The JV team ended the season with a 6-4 record which makes the future of the Varsity teams look bright.

Preparing to score a goal, Kelly Poche waits for the pass.

Young Teams Are Determined Ones

Golf is that sport where one hits around a little white ball trying to get it into a little hole several hundred yards away. The Golf Team was mostly made up of inexperienced players. Jay Dell was the only returning letterman. Although they only won one match, the team still had fun hitting around that little white ball under the warm sun.

The '84-'85 Gymnastics Team consisted mainly of underclassmen. Senior Lynn Dreylinger led the way for the Feds in all four of their matches. She scored highest with a 36.05 against Lee.

In district Lynn placed second behind her rival from Hayfield. The team learned a lot from one another and prospects looked hopeful for next year.

Varsity Meets New Challenges

With six returning players, the Varsity Boys Basketball Team's outlook was optimistic. Adapting to Coach Engel's new system proved more difficult than originally anticipated. The strategy was to take advantage of the quickness of guards Willie McCallum and Lamont Sanders and to rely heavily on the rebounding ability of Sonny Smith.

Unfortunately, things did not work out as well as planned for the Federals. They fought hard and played close games but did not win as many as they would have liked. The regular season ended with a record of 4 and 16.

Driving hard to the basket, Willie McCallum beats his defender.

Concentrating on the last play, Lamont Sanders takes a breather.

Teams Struggle Through Seasons

The Frosh experienced many changes in the beginning of the season. Switching coaches set them back for a little while. As Freshmen, their inexperience showed at the beginning of the season, but at the end they won three consecutive games, ending the year with a record of 6-4. Even though the season was disappointing, the team as a whole gained valuable knowledge in the ways of high school basketball.

The JV Squad was filled with lots of individual talent but could not manage to pull together as a team. With great enthusiasm the team started each game with high hopes, but they came away with disappointment in their hearts. Optimistic hopes for next year kept the team on an upbeat note.

Easily outjumping his opponent, Greg Shell controls the opening tip.

Wrestling

Wrestlers Are Strongest Ever

Ft. Hunt's Varsity Wrestling Team of 84-85 was "the most dominating in the school's history," said Coach Foglio. Led by captain Doug Perry, the Gunston District champions went on and challenged for the region title.

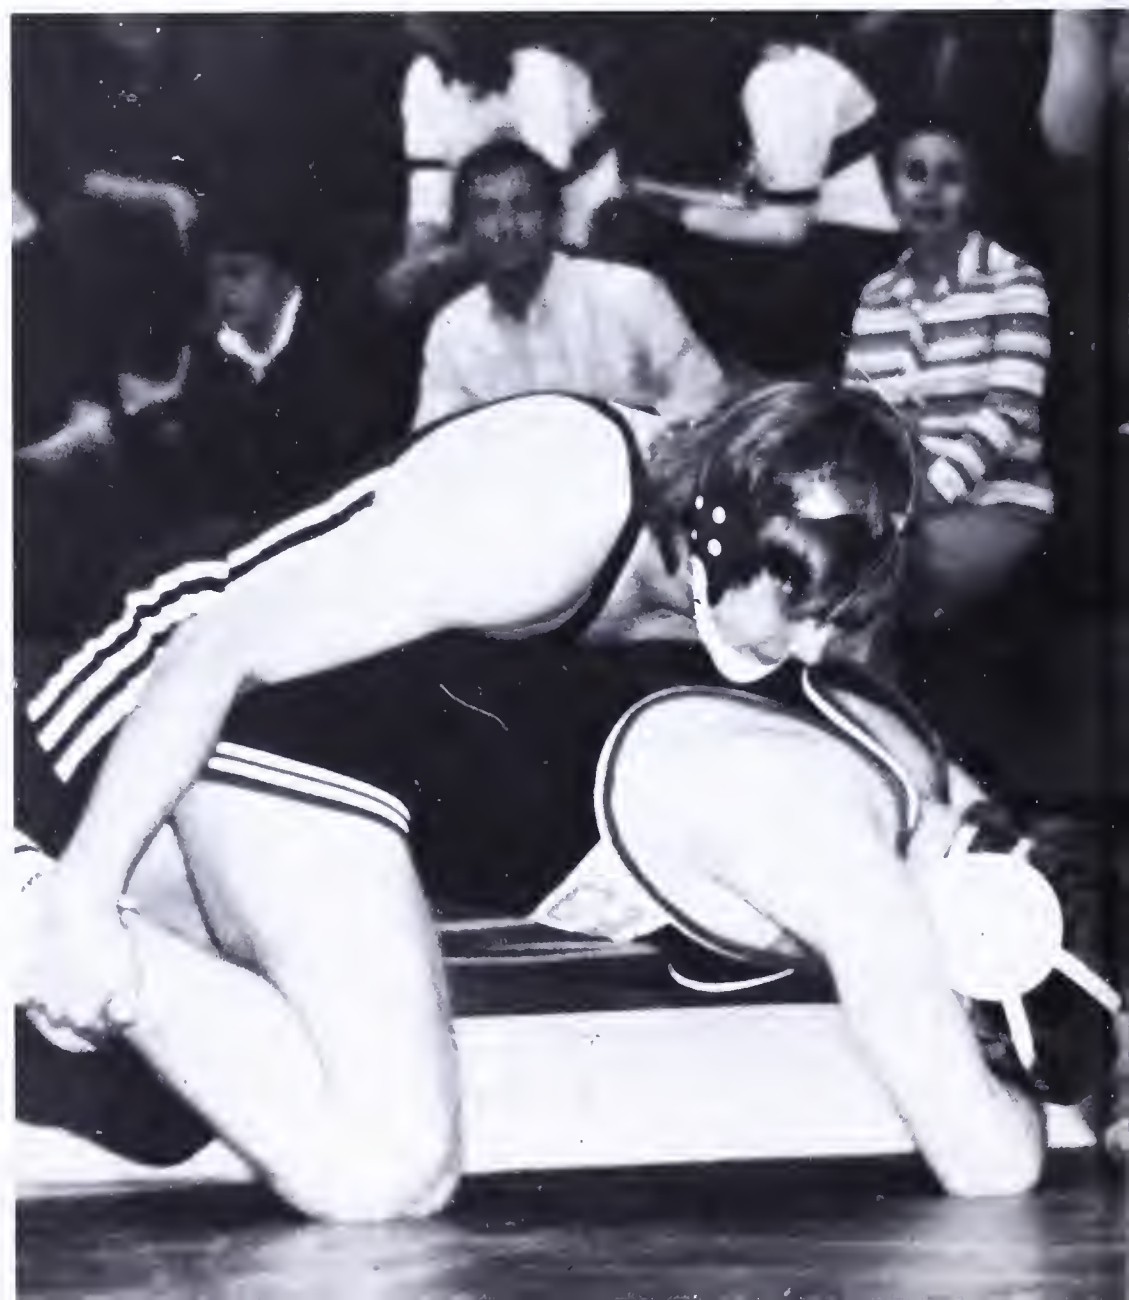

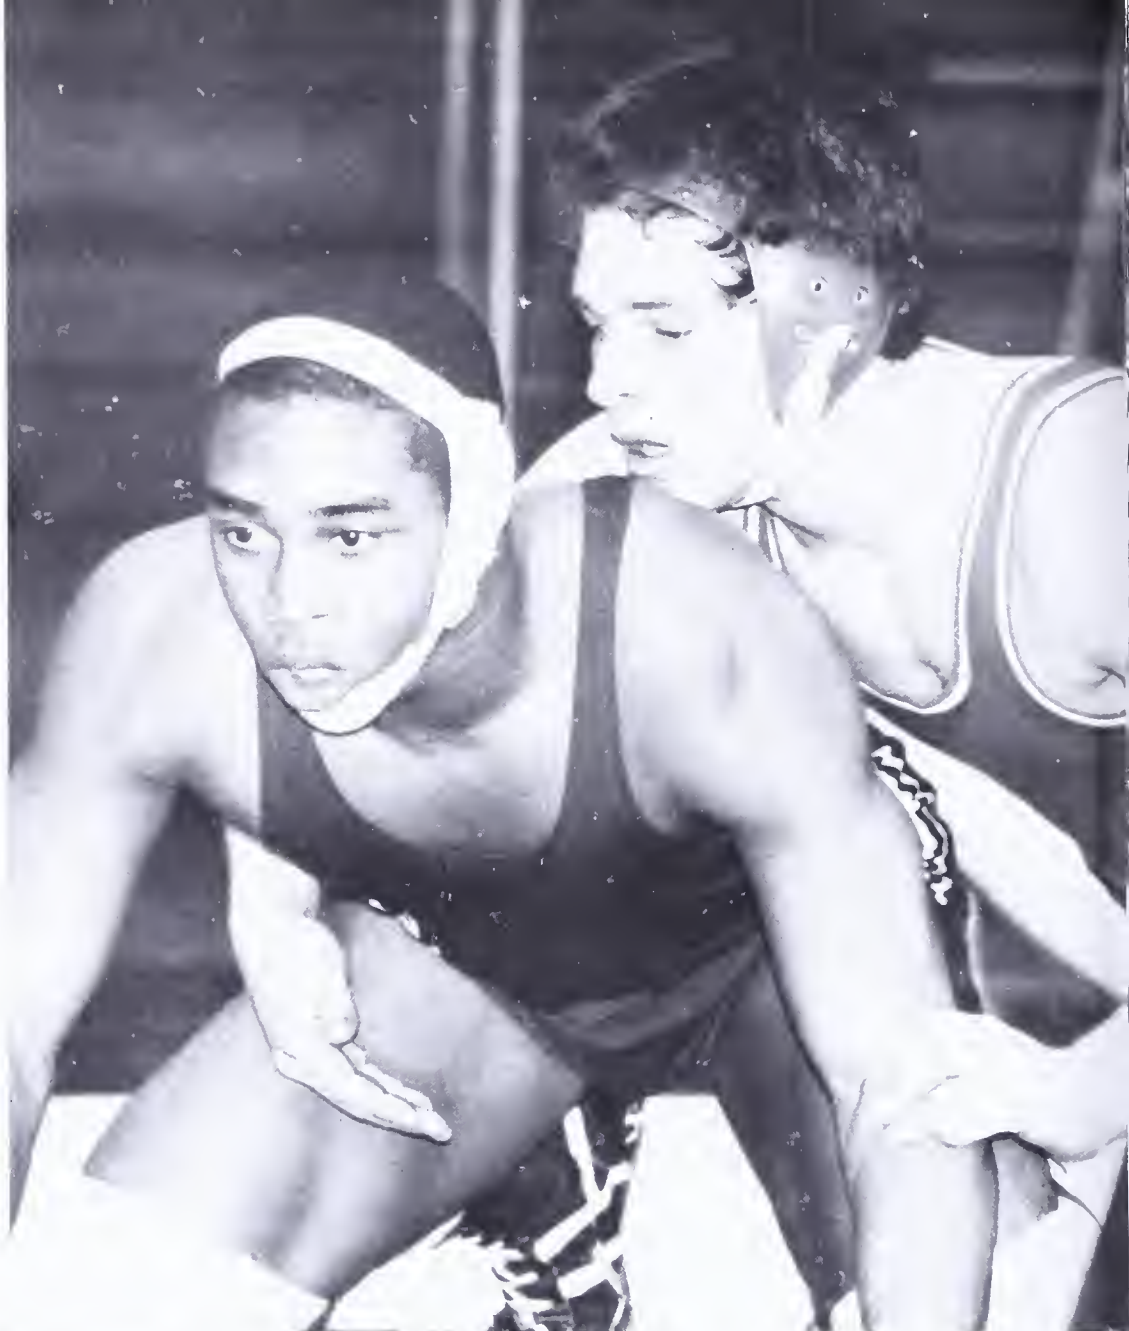

Early in the year the strength of the team was evident as they took first place in the NIT Tournament Championship and second place in the Christmas Tourney.

Before the season had ended, Eric Lindsey had won many awards and finished his high school career with an astonishing 79 wins and only 6 losses. 69 of the wins were by pins.

Ft. Hunt's JV Wrestlers also had a tremendous season. Many of those wrestlers will contribute to next season's squad and will have to fill many great footsteps.

Preparing to execute his skills, Eddie Bonds waits for the ref's signal.

Showing Federal enthusiasm, JV Wrestler Steve Swygart takes down his opponent.

The Fort Hunt Swim Team suffered two losses this year, the loss of the district title and the loss of Coach Gaudreault. Despite the young team, they did go 4-1 in the district.

Thanks to the success of swimmers Melinda Armstrong, Casey Madson, Tracey Sherman, Lance Davis, Michelle Gussie, and Tom Krysa we held our own. District titles went to Mimi Murphy, Mark Erwin, and Paul Papadopoulos. Freshmen sensations were Elizabeth Davis and Libby Jeans.

One thing that surpassed every other team was the Federal spirit which was led by seniors like Steve Phillips, Kate Murray, Kate Murray, Ken Anderberg, and Mary Doherty.

As always, Francis Draper displays perfect diving form.

Track Teams Run to Districts

The Boys and Girls Cross Country Teams were successful in defending the Gunston District title with the help of new coach Joe Merinda. Once again the boys team had a good turnout and the younger runners improved throughout the season. The solid figures for the boys were senior Al Thresher, junior Craig Shakenberg, and sophomore Chris Bir. For the girls solid athletes were senior Terri Snell, junior Sara Burke, and sophomore Jennifer Puhlmann.

The Boys and Girls Indoor Track Teams also took the district title with the guidance of new coaches Eric Parecells, Mike Braxton, Mike Scidarri, Marshall Burt, and Danny Normigle. The girls went 10-0, 5-0 in the district and the boys went 9-1, 4-1 in the district.

For the boys, extraordinary athletes were Steve Patriet, Dennis Phillips, Freeman Stackhouse, Ryan Drummond, with Ryan and Steve going to State. For the girls Lisa Faggins, Jennifer Puhlmann, and Lisa Palermينو competed in the state meet. Kathy Bir and Bette Couch were also superb contenders. Seniors Leanne Dugan, Lisa Hoch, Suzy Weiss, Jennifer Kiess, and Kim Kilgore led the team to their victories also.

Controversy Marks Show

Controversy and shock marked this year's Talent Show. Sponsored by DECA, it was a record 3½ hours long and the competition was divided between bands and other acts. Winners of the band competition were Prophet, with competition from bands like Friction, unusual theatrics by Dark Star, and a controversial rubber chicken in Dead Salmon with White Wine Sauce.

Less controversial yet still enjoyable — were the other 18 acts in the show. Musical talents, as well as dancing and juggling, were displayed before the judges. The overall winners were: 1st The Renegades of Funk-Dancing, 2nd tied between Michael Chertok, piano playing and Terita Jackson, dancing and lip-sync.; and Serna Benson in 3rd for dancing. Fort Hunt will probably never see another Talent Show quite like this one was.

Beth Lancaster and her date kick up their heels to a good ol' knee slappin' song at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Looking for a sturdy rock on which to set the radio, Ken Anderberg with friends points out a dry spot.

Spring Fever Affects All

As the dreary winter ended and Spring began, most students were happy to see the sunny days and warming temperatures. Students wearing shorts and tossing Frisbees signaled the beginning of Spring. Spring is the season when most activities occur. Outdoor sports such as Baseball, Soccer and Tennis replace the indoor sports.

Traditionally "Senior Skip Day" is reserved for a sunny day at the outset of the warm weather. Another sign of the arrival of Spring is the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance held at the end of March.

The biggest event of Spring was the Spring Break. After months of cold weather Spring Break proved a week of rest and relaxation for students. Many ventured to the beaches whether it be O.C. or the always popular Myrtle Beach, in South Carolina or Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Following Spring Break the next big step was, in late May, Prom, which sounded the nearing of the end of school. The days went by quickly and as Graduation approached Seniors can be heard singing, whistling and humming "Pomp And Circumstance."

Long Fight for School Ends in Defe

Following months of intense debate, the Fairfax County School Board voted to convert Ft. Hunt into an intermediate school and shift FH students to Groveton. The plan originally called for a phase-in plan but was revised to be completed next fall. The school is to be renamed and adopt new colors and nickname.

The FH Community had formed a coalition to save our school, after a task force made an original recommendation to close it. The coalition's policy had been to save all the local schools, but when it became apparent that one school would shut down, the position was changed to keeping Ft. Hunt open as a high school.

This change in position intensified the battle between the FH and Groveton communities. Each side pleaded its case at several hearings held throughout the conflict. The Ft. Hunt Coalition was headed by Mr. Peter Brinitzer and raised nearly $15,000 through of bumper stickers, shirts from donations. The coalition also urged parents to write members of the board and press their feelings.

With the merger taking in the fall, this will be the year for Ft. Hunt as a school ending a 22 year era

Homecoming: A Big Success

Friday afternoon the tension and chaotic state of Homecoming filled the school and possessed each individual, but soon enough the energy would be released and remembered for many months to follow.

With police escort we announced ourselves to the crowd of onlookers scattered down Waynewood Boulevard. "Fort Hunt High School, Alexandria, Virginia" was the banner carried by our Drill Team members. They were followed by our euphonic marching band who, in their khakis and yellow shetlands, filled the air with the Federals fight song and other spirited tunes.

Decked out in their most fashionable, the royal subjects from each of the four Federal classes of society sat astride their spectacular forms of transportation and graced the neighborhood with smiles and giggles and waves.

As the parade drew to a close, and the Federals marched off into the sunset, we returned once again to that chaotic state which found release that evening amidst confetti and cheers. Once again the Feds were victorious!!

Surf's Up for Spirit Week

This year, everybody was ready for Homecoming when it finally arrived. The student body made up its mind to have an exciting spirit week and exciting it was.

The week started with "Green and Gold Day" appropriately enough. All of the spirited Federals dug out their green and gold socks, shirts, sweats, buttons, and whatever they could rummage up to fit the occasion.

The rest of the week was frantic but fun. The theme of the week was "Surf's Up." The other spirit days included: Tourist Day, Triplets Day, Favorite Music Day, and of course, Surf's Up Day.

On Surf's Up Day, everyone brought his surfboard and beachtowels to school, looking as if they were ready to head to the beach, and feeling ready to win in anticipation of the Homecoming game.

The game itself was a fierce battle from the beginning to end. The feisty Juniors fought bravely against the experienced Seniors, but in the end, the Seniors came out on top.

All in all the Powder Puff game was a great success; the participants enjoyed themselves and the spectators got their money's worth.

Mr. Fort Hunt Proves a Winner

The first Mr. Fort Hunt Contest was held on November 28. It was an excellent opportunity for the ladies of the Fort to cheer on their favorite man.

There were three categories: beach wear, formal, and interview. During the beach wear segment the men of the Fort flexed whatever muscle they had. This was a popular part with the girls in the audience.

The formal and interview were combined. Each contestant was asked a question that was made up by the Fashion Merchandising classes. The winning question was "What's your favorite color?" The future Mr. Fort Hunt answered, "Pink, because it's so sexy." When David Condon answered his question, he proceeded to sit on the edge of the stage and rattle on about whatever popped in his mind.

The five winners were:

Mr. FH Sophomore, Ernie Lyles

Mr. FH Junior, John Holland

Double Trouble

FERNANDEZ

Linda / Lisa Fernandez

DOB: October 26, 1966 (Lisa first)

Differences: Lisa has a quick temper and is the most outgoing of the two. They don't have the same taste in guys.

Linda (about Lisa) "She can be obnoxious at times, and she always calls me stupid."

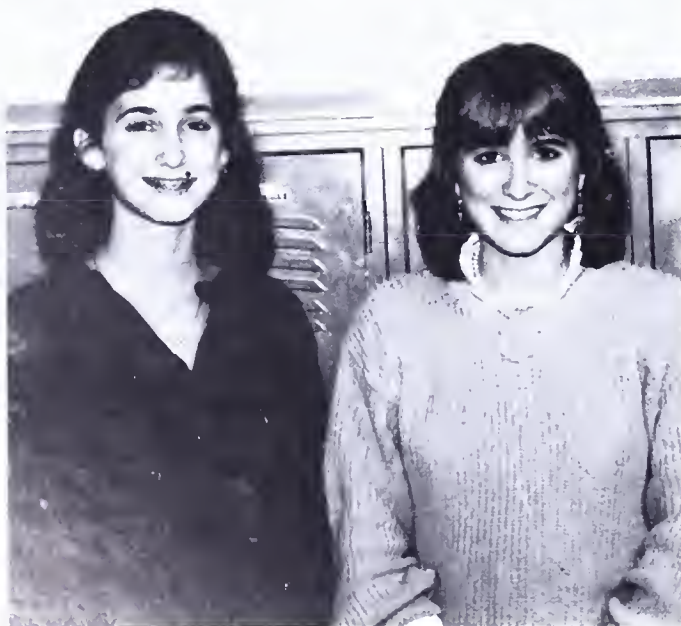

Lisa (about Linda) "I'm obnoxious because she's irritating. She's also mom's favorite."

JARRETTS

Kathy / Kari Jarrett

DOB: September 25, 1968 (Kathy first)

Differences: Kathy is more athletic, while Kari likes dance. Kari is on Drill Team, and Kathy swims and plays tennis. They don't have the same taste in guys.

MILLER

Ashley / Bruce Miller

DOB: April 15, 1967 (Bruce first)

Differences: Fraternal twins; Bruce is very protective, and both say the other is more conservative.

BURKES

Tara / Moira Burke

DOB: March 16, 1968 (Moira first)

Differences: Moira is on Drill Team, Tara doesn't play sports. They are pretty similar — even have all six classes together.

Bruce (about Ashley) — "I can't describe her . . . she's just Ashley."

SWIFTS

Berta/Stephanie Swift

DOB: May 18, 1968 (Berta first)

Differences: Hair, personality. "We go in cycles. If I'm happy, she's depressed and vice-versa." — Berta. Neither one is the favorite.
They claim "our family hates us."

Berta (about Stephanie — "She's weird . . . I mean she makes strange noises and likes to cause a scene."

Stephanie (about Berta) — "I used to think she was sooo innocent. I hate the way she flares her nose when she laughs."

LOCKLINS

Tracey/Lawrence Locklin

DOB: October 27, 1969 (Tracey first)

Differences: Tracey parts his hair down the middle, while Lawrence parts his down the side. Not much rivalry; both say its about half and half.

NEALS

Paula/Pam Neal

DOB: March 18, 1967 (Pam first)

Differences: Pam is more athletic and more conservative. "There's a lot of rivalry between us, but when it comes down to it, we're just friends."

Paula (about Paula) — "She has a lot of friends who are younger than she is, while a lot of my friends are older than I am."

Paula (about Pam) — "She's more conservative and she's a better."

WEEKENDS:

THEY'RE MADE FOR . . .

Weekends have always been a time for us to get away and relax, and to take time to enjoy the things we like to do most. Whether we were raising havoc at parties or getting away for some skiing, swimming, or other popular sporting events, we always made the most of the weekends this year.

Some students took the opportunity to lay back and get caught up on much needed rest or to go out with their friends. Others rushed around in a state of panic writing papers the night before they were due and catching up on homework.

Still others enjoyed the weekends with only one thing on their mind — PARTY! We cannot forget the few who worked hard at their weekend jobs to save the money needed for the future college expenses.

Unwinding after a long week of school, Willie McCallum, Eddie Bonds, Freeman Stackhouse, and Tyrone Gallman set their sights on a good time.

Not everybody hibernates in the winter, as this sporty student demonstrates by taking to the slopes.

Trends Flourish At Fort Hunt

From clothes to cars, the favorites of FH students vary greatly. With the fluctuating trends evident each day, one day something was "in," the next it was "out."

The Fortress Staff took a poll in order to determine what was "hot" and what was not. The responses differed greatly in many of the categories. For example, in the favorite car category, responses varied from antiques to modern sports cars.

There were some categories where the winner was almost unanimous. Without a doubt, the movie most enjoyed by students this year was Eddie Murphy's "Beverly Hills Cop," and General Hospital was the run-a-way winner as the best soap opera. For the other favorites, see the listing on page 156.

Showing off her new exotic earrings, Michelle Gaunya dreams of a modeling career.

Lunch lockers library

Outside of classrooms, these three locations are the busiest areas in our school. Lockers serve as a "home away from home," your own place to neatly stack or more commonly junk books at your own discretion. A 3x5 of your girl or guy and a picture of your favorite drink make for an escape of why you're really in school. Everything from football and unicorns to cars and rainbows gives that personal touch, distinguishing your locker from his and his locker from hers.

Lunch time enables everybody to gather with their own special group. Swapping gossip about classes and friends creates a much needed release in the middle of the day. Time to laugh at jokes, share munchies with friends, and make weekend plans. No matter how wild or reserved the individual, when the opportunity arose even the meekest of Federals let a French fry fly in an uncontrollable food-fight.

Sometimes, though, everybody needs to get away from everything including best friends. The library enables some to do just that. In the midst of the silence one can quickly complete unfinished homework or work on a research paper without the bother of pesky classmates. Others find that simply leaning back with a good book can make the entire school day a little more bearable.

Making use of valuable study time, Eric Langsam checks out the resources in the library.

Homework Gimme A Break . . .

Homework, Homework gimme a break!!! Grades, Grades, Grades. Some like them — most hate them. Just when you think you are doing well, you get interims in your most important classes. Suddenly the thought of your parents comes to mind, because when they see those interims they are going to hit the ceiling!!!

Oh, God please let me live to graduate. You keep your grades at the very least a C+, B average or better; otherwise good old Mommy and Daddy will be out to kill.

Right now it is hard for students our age to sit down in the afternoon or evening and study or do our homework. We are so energetic and concentration is hard because we have so much other stuff on our minds.

It's funny too, — they always manage to get report cards out right before the weekend or especially vacation!!!

"Not only students have homework," yawns Mrs. Robinson as she checks through references after school.

"Monday morning news isn't the greatest," says a sleepy Paul Howard.

The halls of the Fort are infected by a highly contagious disease. It affects the Freshmen as well as the Seniors, the preps, the freaks, the punkers, the jocks, boys and girls alike, and leaves no Federal untouched. There isn't a doctor in the world who can develop a cure for the dreaded . . . MONDAY SYNDROME!!!

The alarm clock goes off at a piercing volume and the floor feels like a sheet of ice as you slide out of bed. You stumble from the clock back to the warmth of your bed and position yourself back into that same little section where the sheets are sunken in and your body has warmed them. Slowly you close your eyes — ah, darkness!

"Get out of bed NOW! I'm not writing any more notes for your being late!" Even Mom's got the illness.

Jennifer White cannot do a thing without her morning doughnut.

Dragging yourself into the bathroom you discover there's no hot water. The cap on the toothpaste was left off and you can't get any out because the tube is cemented shut. Returning to your room you realize that you can't find your left shoe and even if you could you can't get your socks away from the dog. While you're plowing through the clothes on your closet floor for an outfit, you gash your arm on a wire hanger while forcing the door closed. You throw a shirt on over your bleeding arm and grab a pair of Levis before running for the stairs. The dog is trailing after you with your socks hanging from his mouth, and while stepping into your jeans you trip over him. Airborne for the last seven steps!!

"Don't say those words in this house, and I'm NOT giving you a note AGAIN!!"

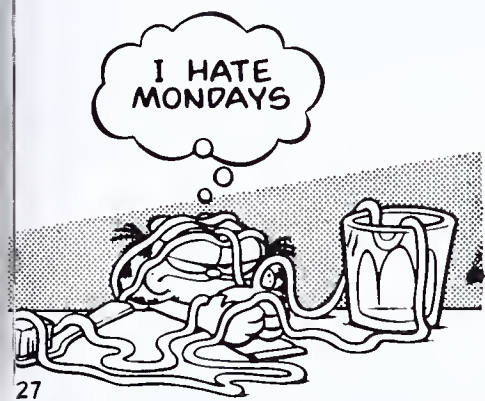

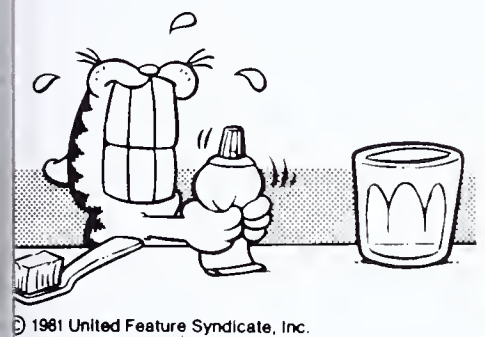

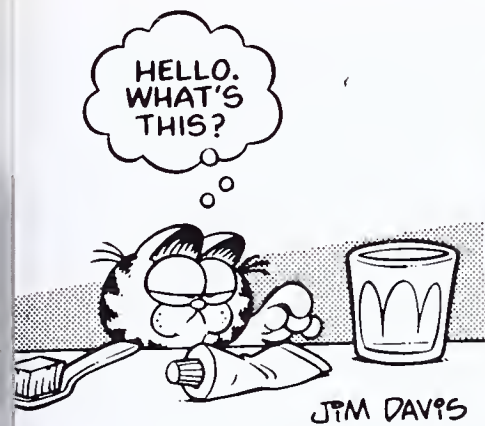

"I KNOW MOM!! AND I DON'T WANT NA HEAR IT!!" Your little brother is grinning at you from the kitchen table, having just finished eating the last bowl of Frodo Loops that you were specifically saving for yourself. You glare at him, stick a piece of bread in the toaster, and sit down grabbing for the comics. As you're slumped over the table reading about how much Garfield "hates Mondays," the crust of your bread ignites in the good-old GE oven and sets off the smoke detector. Your mother begins screaming violently about 'something burning', and looking up you realize you've got 2 minutes to make it to first period. PANIC!! One more tardy puts you over your limit — there goes Senior English!

You race down the hall towards your locker. Someone you've never seen calls out your name with a devilish grin and says, "Hey, remember what you did at John's house Friday night? That was so wild!!" You keep on running and as you frantically attempt to open your locker, you find yourself thinking "Who's John? I don't even REMEMBER going out Friday night." The halls appear empty, when suddenly a deep voice echoes through the corridor. SKINNER!!!

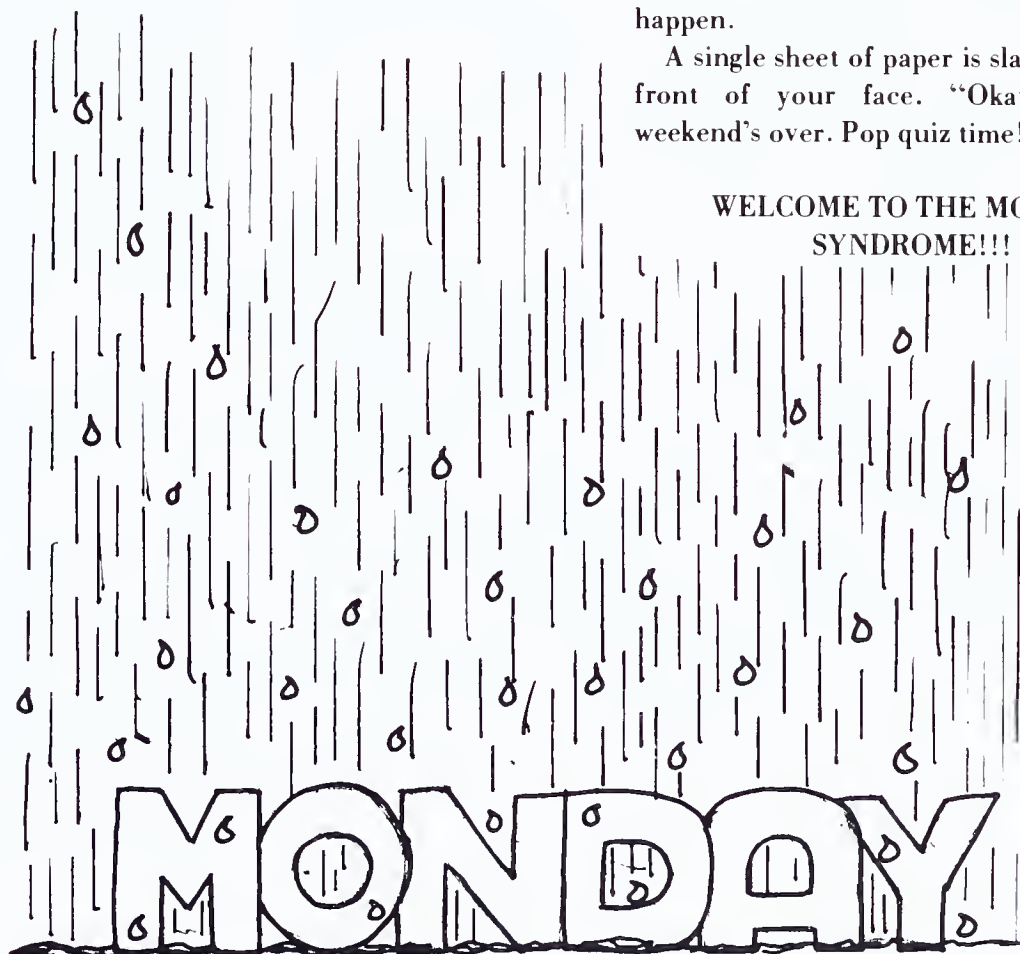

Veronica Reaves is surprised that she is awake on a Monday morning.

"HEY, You, where are you s'posed to be? What's your name?" Forget the locker!!! You cruise around the corner with Eugene in hot pursuit and throw open the door to your English class. All heads turn. The clock clicks to 8:37 and you're told that your presence is requested in that room at exactly 2:20 that afternoon. You know if you don't show Mr. Travis will most likely extend an invitation too, but you're getting your wisdom teeth pulled at 2:30. You sink into your desk and bury your head in your arms, wondering what else could possibly happen.

A single sheet of paper is slapped down in front of your face. "Okay gang, the weekend's over. Pop quiz time!"

WELCOME TO THE MONDAY SYNDROME!!!

WHO Stays After School?

Though the majority of the students at the Fort leave after the last bell, there are the few, the dedicated students, who stay for extra help from teachers, and also for a wide range of school sports. Every day you usually can find almost all the faculty helping different students with a wide range of problems.

But also the after school hours are a very good time for students to socialize and become familiar with the school and their teachers. This time of the day can for some be more enjoyable than any other time of the day.

Cornelia Gaillard works on the French Club's support poster.

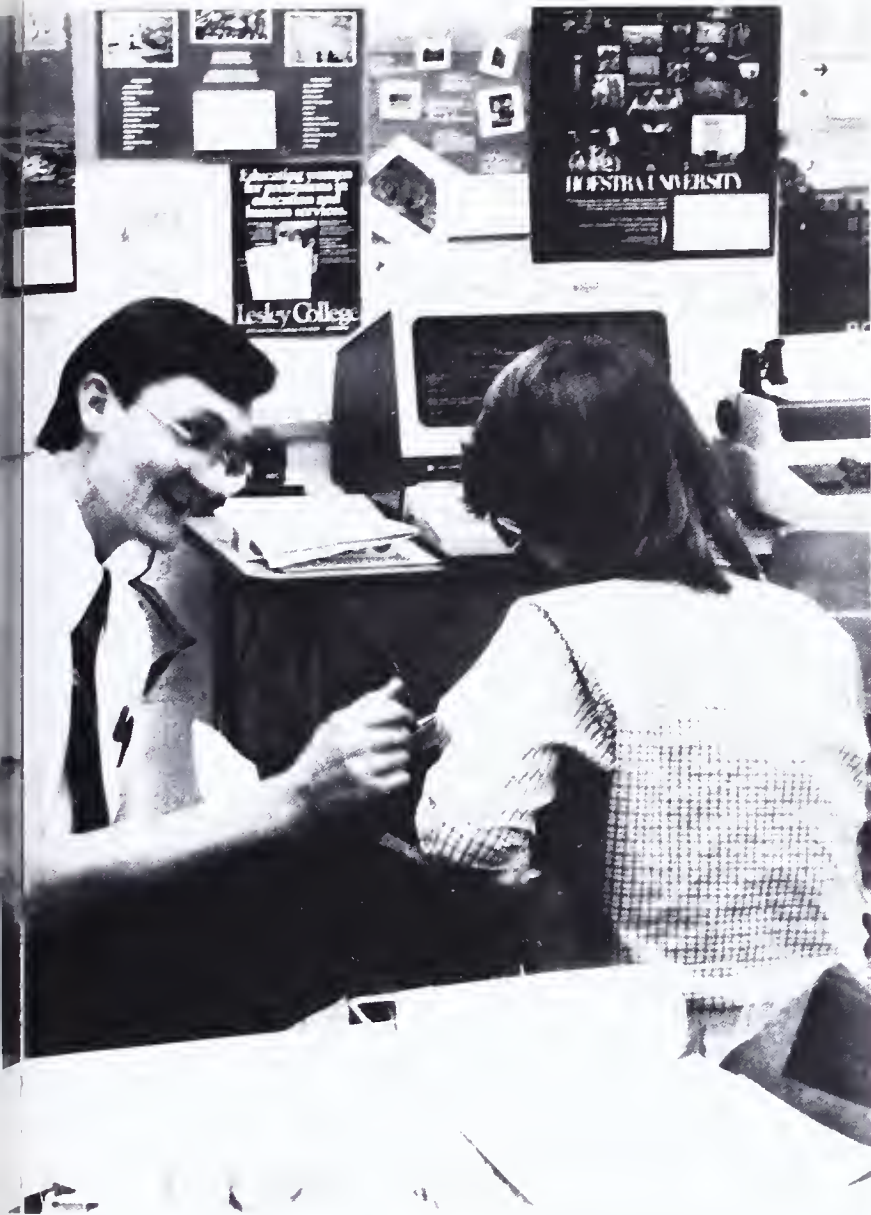

Editor in Chief of the yearbook, Pat Sullivan, has a very demanding schedule.

The sweetest couple, Reggie Jones and Katie Holmes, socialize in the hall.

Planning for her future, Laurie Thieme is counseled by the Career Advisor, Mr. Giska.

The nationwide fame of Fort Hunt's band grows as they practice daily after school.

The studying continues for Richard Dunbar and Catherine Lisi when the halls are less crowded.

Chuck Dunbar serves the most famous after school activity — detention.

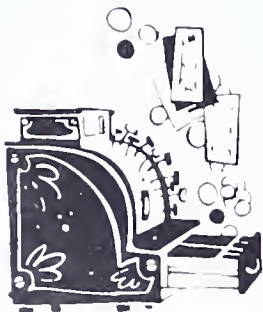

Always willing to lend a hand, Scott Cunningham assists a customer at Safeway.

A busy job at Unique in Old Town provides Joanne Luger a steady source of income.

Washing windshields is just one of the many duties that comes with Chris Evans' job at Hollin Hall Golf.

Madora Wilson always appears eager to take money from a customer as she minds the store in Old Town.

Not Just A Job: An Adventure

A vital part of the student life at the Fort revolves around the workplace. A large majority of the students spend a part of their afterschool and weekend time working at various places in the area.

Why get a job? Students work for various reasons. Money is an obvious factor. Everyone can use extra money for spending or saving. Some jobs provide valuable experience for future professions. Others are just a means of getting out of the house. Either way, a job gives one a sense of responsibility, self-esteem, and pride.

"Bagging is my life," claims Steve Lehrke.

Exhausted from much hard work, Pam Salsbery pours herself a drink.

Demonstrating her modeling skills, Jenny Moss poses for the cameras.

Events

Practicing for a pep rally, the Drill Team does their routine one last time.

CLUBS PROVIDE SERVICES TO FT. HUNT COMMUNITY

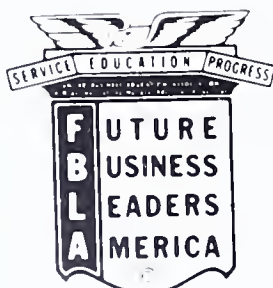

Every afternoon the announcements were filled with club news. Here at the Fort we are fortunate to have over twenty-six different clubs to choose from. These clubs range from the Drama Club to the Student Government and from the Pep Squad to the Biology Club.

Clubs not only give us the opportunity to meet new people but also to share our interests and participate in activities as well. All in all students this year participated in numerous bake sales, candy sales, the FHHS rally, Christmas tree sales etc.

Some students showed their concern about the community by actively participating in programs for the elderly. This was a great year in which we were able to explore our interests and have a great time as well.

"Join Jr. Civitans" Civitan's President Stefan Ries tries hard to recruit new members during Club Day.

The pressures of yearbook deadlines keep Alison Keeping and Melanie Alnwick on the edge as they busily finish their layouts.

At an FBLA meeting President Billy Keech informs members of upcoming events.

Two SADD representatives, Susan Chamberlain and Mary Carol Ridder, take a break as they wait for prospective members on Club Day.

On a cold winter's night, Cathy Raduazo and Rob Revere pay tribute to accident victims at the Candlelight vigil.

PG County Tightens Restrictions on Extra-Curricular Activities

During the second semester of the school year 1984-1985 a new rule went into effect right across the river in Prince Georges County. The rule stated that all students must maintain a C average if they wanted to participate in any extra-curricular activity. If this average wasn't upheld, then the student couldn't participate in any school related sports or club activity.

Parents and county officials were in a dilemma over the issue because of all the pros and cons. On one hand, this rule tended to help those students who took it as an incentive to do their best academically. On the other hand, more students signed up for less challenging classes in an effort to do and ultimately learn the least possible.

In the first semester of this rule being enforced 39% of Prince Georges County students were ineligible for extra-curricular activities. Many teachers feared that students how center their high school career around sports and clubs might ultimately drop out if they were deprived of these privileges.

To many students the C average rule was one that they had experienced in their own home throughout their school years. Parents finally had a reinforcement for their rule.

Concerts Attract Many FH Students

This year the Cap Centre featured several sold out concerts. And of course they were all well attended by the Fort Hunt student body. Some of the most popular concerts the year included Bruce Springsteen, Prince, and U2.

All of the bands gave their usual excellent performances. The Bruce Springsteen concert beginning with the story of the band lasted long into the early morning hours. The Prince concert brought together wide crowds and music for each of the three performances.

Many times the expense of tickets cleaned out our wallets, but we all agree the concerts were definitely worth the price.

World News View

CNN's Beirut Bureau chief, Jeremi Levin, escaped after being held captive by terrorists. It happened just like a movie after tying several blankets together, then climbed down the side of the building he was held in. He was sheltered by Syrian soldiers and then turned over to proper authorities and flown to an American base in West Germany. Upon his arrival in the U.S., Levin proclaimed himself "a bona fide American."

In Moscow, the Soviet leadership decided to return to the arms negotiations. The major pitfall that the talks encountered was President Reagan's proposed "Star Wars" plan. One of the problems with the proposed defense system is that the entire system would not be operational until the 1990s and it will cost the American taxpayer billions of dollars.

Local Elections Stir Up Interest

The '84 local elections hit in the heart of the Fort Hunt community. When Sandra Duckworth resigned as Mount Vernon Supervisor, a special election was called. This election was crucial since the new Supervisor would be needed to help Fort Hunt fight the battle of closing the school.

Three candidates ran for the office — Gerald Hyland (D), Farrell Egge (R), and Gerald Fill (I). Each one bidded to try to keep the Fort open, but Egge was the one who convinced the community and won the election.

During the election time Government students were able to help the candidates and earn extra credit in class. The candidates came to the school and talked to some students. Signs with their names decorated the streets all over the district. Flyers were passed out by students in shopping centers, at the schools, etc.

Proving to the Fort Hunt community that they made the right choice in electing him, Egge stood by Fort Hunt through thick or thin. He showed up at the Rally in February, where the audience chanted his name.

Although big elections rarely affect a community directly, this election hit home. No matter who had won, the outcome of the Mount Vernon Supervisor's election affected everyone who had anything to do with Fort Hunt High School.

Bitterly Cold Winter Smashes Records Throughout the Nation

As fall ended and winter approached us, all looked forward to snow days. Even if we couldn't have a whole day off, a two hour late opening would be all right. Many students preferred two hour late openings to a day that meant no make-up days in June.

In the beginning of winter, unlike the predictions, it was very warm. Then towards January we had drastic temperature changes, snow and freezing rain and record low temps, with the wind chill plummeting to the negatives.

In the National picture, some of the coldest weather ever recorded occurred during this winter — including a record cold front through the mid West.

Washington battered the cold, but still had to make some changes. The inaugural parade was cancelled and Ronald Reagan had to be sworn in inside. The cold and snow closed schools as well as many businesses, and the Federal workers put on delay also, often.

After suffering through one of the coldest winters in history, everyone looked forward to spring and summer.

Capitals Gain Many New Fans

Having the best season in their history, the Washington Capitals outlook on the Stanley Cup Playoffs looks very promising. Accumulating the third highest total points in the NHL, only behind the Edmonton Oilers, the Caps were looked upon as the new power in the NHL.

Sending four players, Rod Langway, Mike Gartner, Scott Stevens, and Bobby Carpenter, to the All-Star Game was an all time record for the Caps. Displaying both their offensive power and defensive power with a goal from Mike Gartner and strong defensive checking from Rod Langway, they aided the Wales Conference with a victory over the Campbell Conference.

Setting records throughout the NHL was Bobby Carpenter, scoring the most goals ever by an American born hockey player, breaking the old record of 41 goals in a single season. With the aid of Bob Mason, coming fresh from the '84 Winter Olympic Hockey Team, he replaced Al Jensen who had to be benched due to a severe knee injury.

Fort Hunt's students took advantage of the Capitals practicing facilities, Mount Vernon Recreation Center, to see their favorite Cap in action close up and possibly speak to them.

Proposal to Raise Drinking Age Encounters Mixed Reactions

One issue in the news this past year that has uplifted much controversy was the possibility of raising the drinking age throughout the state. The proposed "Grandfather Clause" would take effect gradually over the next couple of years.

The proposal calls for the first installment of the bill to commence in June of 1986. The law would prohibit the purchasing of alcohol in the state of Virginia by anyone under the age of twenty. Eventually, by the June of 1987, the age required to purchase any type of alcoholic beverage in Virginia will be boosted to twenty-one.

Reaction to this issue has been varied at Fort Hunt High School. Many feel that high school students are mature enough to handle alcohol consumption. Conversely, others argue that a raise in the drinking age would eliminate thousands of accidents due to drunk driving.

Fort Hunt Undergoes Several Changes as Teachers Move On

Not only has the student population of Fort Hunt High School diminished over the last couple of years, but many staff members are failing to return for some reason or another. Since the close of the '84 school year, a total of twelve Fort Hunt teachers have left.

But what is the cause of all these departures? Many are leaving to avoid the closing threat. Such a threat has scared off a number into finding a more secure position. Still others are leaving Fort Hunt High School for retirement purposes. Even our principal, Mr. Cabelus, is retiring at the end of this school year.

When asked about this issue, Mr. Giska could not understand why so many teachers have left. He claimed, "There is no better school". Although the School Board voted to close Fort Hunt, there are high hopes that the excellent teaching staff will move with the students and continue our education at the new school.

After a long year, the students at Fort Hunt found that it was a year of which they could be proud academically. When we got wrapped up in other activities, many of us tended to forget that learning was the main reason that we were at the Fort.

However, as the end of the year got closer, we realized that our studies were another reason to be proud of our student body. Aside from sports, clubs, and other activities, we also excelled in academics, and we realized that they are the backbone of our school.

Front Office Runs the Show

"What's with the walkie-talkies" was a familiar question asked this year at Fort Hunt High School. But the people behind the radios were not field commanders ordering artillery attacks or police officers requesting a back up unit. Instead, however, they were Fort Hunt High School administrators keeping the hallways clear of class skippers and smokers.

While the administration was busy with the task of running the school this year, the Guidance Department remained occupied filling out applications for college bound seniors and preparing young minds for life after high school. Through such aids as the college career center, students at the Fort were presented with many helpful suggestions for the future ahead of them.

English Does Benefit All

English is one subject that each and every Fort Hunt student had in common this year. We all had our weekly vocabulary tests and wrote our share of short stories and essays, not to mention the endless hours spent memorizing passages from classical works such as Shakespeare's Hamlet or Romeo and Juliet.

Grammar was another area that we covered at one time or another, thus making our writing clearer and more easily understood. Finally when we sat down to take the SAT's, we realized the full benefits of our English classes.

Finishing up their assignments, Danielle Griffin and Chris Kennedy find they have time to chat.

Math Offers Needed Skills

In addition to the traditional required courses, the Math Department was crowded once again with hundreds of students. The courses offered there ranged from basic algebra through geometry and extended to the college prep courses of trigonometry and/or calculus.

Courses were also offered for career specialization, primarily Computer Science. With the entire world moving towards computers, this course has become quite popular and very beneficial to many students.

Most of the courses given in the Math Hall were directed towards graduation requirements and helping the applying students for college admissions.

Science Can Be Atomic

Of all the students who participated in the work of the Science Department most were on very rigorous schedules. From the famous biology field trip to Drainsville, to Mr. South's "dreaded major labs" Fort Hunt students enjoyed learning about different fields of science.

Fort Hunt offered classes such as basic Earth Science, Biology, AP Biology, Chemistry, AP Chemistry, PSSC Physics and Project Physics. While many students accepted the challenge of competing in the science fair, most others felt that one class a day was enough for them.

Classes View Past, Present

Most of us attended one of the Social Studies classes offered at Fort Hunt. Here we studied everything from the Stone Age to the present day. We filled our minds with knowledge from every aspect of numerous cultures.

Much thought was put into interesting projects and reports. We even learned the many rights of the citizens and examined the laws of our own country.

Study in the area of Social Studies offered a look at the past and a chance to perhaps predict the future.

Cultures Open New Horizons

Foreign Language is a major part of high school. With German, French, Latin and Spanish being offered students have a wide variety of cultures to choose from.

An International Festival was held on Wednesday, December 19. Every student brought in food from their particular country. Classes traveled from room to room, listening to brief summaries and then sampling the many different foods.

Besides the academic classes there are club activities after school. Clubs met one day a week and discussed upcoming events. The German Club played against the Latin Club in a soccer game and prevailed, 1-0.

Students who excel in all areas of their school work are able to join the Language Honor Societies. To join, one must maintain a 3.5 average in the language and a 3.0 average overall. Honor Society members tutor other students after school for extra credit.

Courses Tune Basic Skills

At Fort Hunt, everything you need to begin a practical life with is here. If you want to be a homemaker, you could have taken home economics, which can help you make food, fix your clothes, and learn how to keep a clean house. Auto shop can help you fix your car without going bankrupt. Electronics and shop can show you the basics about taking care of your house and making minor repairs.

P.E., let us get away from our school work for about 45 minutes. It gave us a chance to take a break, talk to our friends, but most importantly to keep fit, and to develop our health physically and mentally.

Business, Fine Arts Prove Productive to F.H. Students

This year the business and fine arts classes were becoming the keys to the future. There were so many young talents to be found. In the business fields of Typing, Accounting, Business Law and Management, these ambitious students may someday be the corporate leaders of the world.

This year, for the first time, there was a "business simulation." It took two years to prepare and is now successfully being put into action. Here the business class assumes the identity of a small business community in a town called Pettisville, Ohio. There are fifteen businesses in the community and each student has his own to run.

In the Fine Arts Department of drama, music, and art, we had many prominent performers. In the first dramatic play of the year, "The Curious Savage," the two leading roles were played by Emily Townley and Christy Schoch. Mrs. Schuster, Mrs. Schwaner and Mr. Etheridge have shaped an excellent music department this year. We had a new addition to the Fine Arts program this year. Mr. Holmes the art teacher offered a vast variety of classes.

Staff Offers Needed Aid

This year would not have run as smoothly without the dedicated work of the support staff. These individuals put up with much impatience, and their days often went unrecognized. From the custodians who cleaned up the destruction left by students after each lunch period to the secretaries who lightened the load for the administration, the support staff kept extremely busy.

And nobody could forget the smiling cafeteria staff who presented us with exceptional lunchtime meals every day or Mrs. Kandt who accepted our absentee notes whether forged or not. It is to these dedicated workers that we owe a lot.

Keeping extremely busy, Elizabeth Galeota organizes her files.

The Class of '86 is looking to the future. This year was filled with new responsibilities. For many, this year introduced the dreaded SAT's. For all, the responsibility to plan and raise money for Prom. Along with this hard work, the Juniors still had fun. We are looking forward to our last year at Fort Hunt. But we'll always keep the memories of friends and the fun we shared during our Junior year.

Long Live Latin Semper Latina

Latin Club Is Filled With Fun

The Latin Club is one of the most active clubs at Fort Hunt. The 1984-85 year proved to be very successful. Over the summer Latin students from the US and Canada attended the National Junior Classical League Convention where the Feds placed highly in many competitions. Among the events that kept members busy this year were Latin Bowls the Saturnalia, at which an original play was performed by Fort Hunt students, the annual Latin/German Soccer game, and participation in the school sponsored International Day. The club was especially pleased that one of their sponsors, Mrs. Jane Hall, was named the Virginia Distinguished Foreign Language Teacher of 1984.

For all those who think Latin is a dead language, the more than 100 members of the club say, "LONG LIVE LATIN!"

At the National Latin Convention, sponsor, Mrs. Jane Hall takes time out from the fun to pose with her group of happy Romans.

'84-'85 School Year Is Filled With Many Memories

Each school year has its own special memories, and this year was no exception. As the end of the school year approached, we all looked back on these memorable occasions. From the first annual Mr. Fort Hunt Contest to the traditions of Homecoming and Prom, the enthusiasm and pride of the students was brightly illustrated. This school spirit was responsible for many of the most pleasant memories, whether it was participating on a team sport or cheering in the stands.

School unity played a major role this year as we fought for the survival of our school. But individual accomplishments also provided good times for all. Whether it was participating in the science fair, winning an award for scholastic achievement, or being accepted to college, each individual accomplishment will be remembered for a long time.

While Terri Snell and Jane Jessey read their assignment, the rest of the class seems disinterested.

Filled with Holiday spirit, Santa Claus (John Travis) sings joyfully.

At a class meeting, Sandy Tipton lets her mind drift away.

Lending her hand to a worthy cause, Jenny O'Brien signs yet another petition.

On International Day, Tony Klapper explains a Latin custom to a German class.

In business class, Kim Swisher and Erin Flannagan learn another use of the invaluable adding machine.

Jeff Murphy looks on as Erik Larsen struggles with his desk.

In the front office, Stephanie Caffery performs one of her many duties.

Admiring the many muscular bodies, Stephanie Huxhold checks up on her favorite sports heroes.

Getting involved in their home economics assignment, Katherine Wildman, Kim Gallagher, and Vicky Moore crack an egg.

End of the Year: A Time To Reflect on the Past

Although the year was filled with many good times, it was filled with a lot of hard work as well. The year could not go by without having to cram for an exam or having to visit the library the night before a term paper was due. Writing and practicing speeches for English and memorizing translations in foreign language were all in a day's work.

The year progressed, and the day's work became a struggle to save our outstanding school and its long-lived reputation. As Federals, we fought together to prove that our dedication remained ever faithful.

THE WAY WE WERE; just four simple words. But on March 29, 1985 the School Board brought new meaning to them.

They no longer meant just that. Everyone began to think about the way things had been — the thrill of winning, the letdown of defeat, your first date, your first kiss, sharing a joke with your favorite teacher, the horror of your first pep rally, and that special feeling you get when you step on the Senior stands for the first time.

Our school will forever stand. Fort Hunt by any other name will be remembered as Fort Hunt High School. It was THE WAY WE WERE and it is the way we will forever remain. It is the closing of another year and of our school, but it is not the end of our infinite spirit.

After learning he has won the lead role in the upcoming play, Brad Rees is all smiles.
